On departure they received a return stay gift certificate as will all guests staying three consecutive days or more during the hotel's first three months of operations. ■

ARYADUTA OLYMPICS

The fit strutted their stuff, while the less fit huffed and puffed. But all were full of spirit as The Aryaduta Jakarta held their annual Olympics 1995 at Lapangan Banteng. All, from Executive Committee members to Staff members put aside fierce agendas and tight schedules to take part in a line up of sporting events that began with a Fun Bike from the hotel. GM, Manfred Kalcher is seen receiving the Olympic torch at the beginning of the event - what they don't tell us is whether he was one of the fits or less fits !! ■

FINANCE MINISTRY LUNCHEON

The Indonesian Ministry of Finance recently hosted a luncheon at the Ambiente Italian Restaurant of Hotel Aryaduta Jakarta. ## AROUND THE ARCHIPELAGO

CITRALAND REMEMBERS

To mark the second anniversary of Hotel CitraLand Jakarta, that fell on 28 October, the hotel remembered those less fortunate than themselves. A charity programme was carried out with a visit to the Al-Muslim orphanage located in Tambun, Bekasi. There they presented school uniforms and clothing collected from the employees of the hotel. ■

BOROBUDUR BOUTIQUE

The Borobudur Inter-Continental Jakarta's anticipated 14-month renovation programme is budgeted at US$ 65 million and began in mid-October. During the programme the main building will be closed, but the Garden Wing Suites will remain in operation and the area has been re-designed into a Boutique hotel with exclusive facilities and services. Seen here, G.R. Schmidt, Regional VP Operations and the hotel's GM, accompanied by Ratna Krisman, Dir. Marketing, (right) and Uraini Umarjadi, PR Manager, (left), explain to the media the Inter-Continental philosophy: once an Inter-Continental is opened, the key is thrown away as a symbol that it will always be in operation and that is why curtains were drawn to mark the beginning of the renovation. The second act will start after a short break. ■

GOLDEN UN

In commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations, the staff of the Sari Pan Pacific made a courtesy visit to the UN Representative Office in Jakarta. From left: Mr. C. ## PIODALAN PURA

The Kartika Plaza Beach Hotel, Tuban, Bali held Piodalan Pura, the Hotel Temple Ceremony to commemorate the anniversary of its consecration, which is held every 210th day of the Balinese Wuku calendar. The 3-day religious event was attended by the hotel's management and staff, as well as in-house guests. It all started with the preparation of ornaments for the temple of Penjor (Balinese decoration made of young coconut leaves) and making of highly colourful Gebogan offerings. The High Priest commenced the temple ceremony which was complimented by the sacred Rejang Dance, seen here accompanied by the gamelan orchestra. ■

IN THE SWING

They say that golf is all in the swing. Well, the leading professional golfers who were in town for the Alfred Dunhill Masters at the beginning on November certainly got into the swing of things with a visit to Planet Hollywood. Having been entertaining the fans with their prowess on the course all day, they were certainly entitled to some liquid and solid refreshment! ■

WIPE OUT POLIO

Mr. Bernard Brack, GM Hotel Bintang Bali, in his capacity as President of the Rotary Club Nusa Dua, joined other members in visiting immunisation posts in Nusa Dua, Banjar Bualu and Banjar Pande. This was the second round of the nationwide anti-polio campaign targeting children who had been vaccinated first time round - complete vaccination requires two shots. Rotary Club members hope that through their efforts they may play a small part in eradicating this disease from Indonesia. ■

EMPORIO ARMANI AUTUMN/WINTER COLLECTION

All good things must come to an end, and the Grand Hyatt Jakarta presents its final fashion parade for 1995 in the Fountain Lounge on 13 December at 3:00 pm.

Intentionally luxurious, the Autumn Winter Emporio Armani collection is created for a young woman with an eye for elegance and glamour, yet a woman who can also interpret elegance with modern elan and a sense of humour. It is a collection marked by a passion for well-designed shapes and clean tailoring.

Jackets come long with high and short martingales, short with tightly cinched waists as skirt-jackets buttoned from the neck to the waist and bias-cut jackets with matelasse lining. Skirts come long or mid-knee, elongating the leg with slits, both with and without buttons. Waists are accentuated with wide to narrow belts, pleats or inserts of fabric cut on the bias. Pants are either wide-legged or tapered with wide cuffs. Colours range from understated sensible hues such as black, slate, pearl and deep brown to the wild side of fuchsia, purple, China red, turquoise and vivid orange.

The men's collection sees a departure from excessive bagginess and oversized fashions; silhouettes that emphasise the male physique and epitomise the modern well-groomed, intellectually engaged man are to the fore. Tailoring is a tribute to the old Neapolitan school, with pronounced and slightly padded shoulders, precisely-cut lapels, a tapered waist (often accentuated with a belt), and straight-cut trousers.

Here too, colours are a departure from the past. Instead of traditional warm autumn tones taken from nature, Armani's palette comes straight from the cityscape - steely shades of grey from asphalt and lead to slate and fog. Armani likes them in solids and modern textured weaves.

Experience Emporio Armani in Grand Hyatt's Fountain Lounge on 13 December at 3:00 pm. Sponsored by KLM. Price is just Rp. 40,000++ per person and includes the sumptuous afternoon tea buffet.

For reservations, call 390 1234 ext. 3311. ■

PROGRAM

A SPECIAL PULL OUT SUPPLEMENT FOR AIR BUSINESS TRAVELLERS

YOUR EASY REFERENCE

TO BOTH INTERNATIONAL AND DOMESTIC FLIGHTS
ARRIVING & DEPARTING
JAKARTA AND BALI AIR TERMINALS.

The capital of Western Australia is becoming an increasingly popular destination for Indonesian tourists, and no wonder with its unique combination of modern facilities, small city charm and natural beauty right on the doorstep. To see what it was all about, Jakarta Program accepted the invitation of Garuda Indonesia and Australian travel organisations to join a group on tour in early November.

Set on the banks of the Swan River which winds through the city on its way to join the Indian Ocean at Fremantle, Perth retains the spirit of an old pioneering town while rejoicing in the flush of modern architecture. It is a town planner's delight, with office towers lining wide streets, historic buildings carefully preserved and green spaces jealously guarded to retain the fresh, clean atmosphere that the city exudes.

Settled by Europeans from the 19th century, initially as a site for transported convicts, gold hunters and colonizers, Perth has been slower to grow than the frenetic cities of the east. Perhaps it is Perth's splendid isolation - "Most Isolated City" is but one of its names - or the more than a hundred ethnic groups that make up its 1.1 million population, but it certainly lives up to its title as the "Friendliest City". It is indeed, a city made for relaxation.

The Town Hall on the corner of Hay and Barrack Streets, built by convict labour and designed in the style of the old English market halls, is but one of the building preserved from the past. From here it is but a short step to St. George's Terrace where the Barracks Archway is all that remains of the original barracks that housed the soldier settlers. Further down is Government House, a fine old building dating from 1859, which is still the official residence of the Governor of Western Australia. Perth's first school, the Old Perth Boys School on St. Georges Terrace, now houses the National Trust Gift Shop and Information Centre and is a good place to rest the aching feet over a cup of coffee.

Much of Western Australia's early history related to the gold fields of Kalgoorlie and beyond, and the Perth Mint, established in 1899, is one of the world's oldest still operating on its original premises. Each year more than 100,00 visitors come to see molten gold being cast into 200-ounce bars and the processes by which gold, silver and platinum coins are manufactured. It is also the location of Australia's premier bullion trading market, as well as the place to purchase coins, nuggets, jewellery and souvenirs unique to the Perth Mint.

The most prominent feature of Perth is not a building or monument however, but King's Park which overlooks the city and is just a five-minute bus ride from the centre on the free City Clipper. The more than 400-hectare site has been dedicated for public recreation since 1872 and besides its fine restaurant, sculptured gardens, children's playgrounds and barbecue areas, much of the park has been carefully preserved as virgin bushland, providing a vision of what the area must have looked like when the first pioneers arrived. It is graced by many monuments, but perhaps the most poignant of all are the Honour Avenues with each tree dedicated to an Australian serviceman who fell in the two great wars.

Perth does not lie trapped in the past however. It is very much a modern city with the finest of attractions. At Underwater World, similar to Sea World at Ancol in Jakarta, the long acrylic tunnel allows you to come face to face with thousands of marine creatures including sharks and giant stingrays. There is also the attractions of a touch pool and dolphin feeding. But perhaps the most unusual feature is that Underwater World has become a popular evening function venue for... underwater weddings!

PERTH OPAL OF THE WEST

Period buildings retain the feel of a pioneer town.

King's Park is the recreational lung of the city.

Another popular attraction for visitors is the Burswood Resort Casino. Operating 24 hours a day, it offers fabulous live shows, restaurants, entertainment centres, five-star luxury hotel and 18-hole golf course, as well as the casino itself of course. Blackjack, Poker, Roulette and Craps are just some of the ways to relieve you of your money - or you may get lucky like one of our group and actually come out ahead!!

Australians have always been a sports-mad nation and, depending on the season, you can sample cricket or Aussie rules, the country's two national games. The white, sun-kissed beaches of the Indian Ocean are only minutes away and in places the sandy banks of the Swan River provides easy access to the water. Surfing, snorkeling and yachting are all common recreations for West Australians, as is a trip to the horse-racing or trotting races. Golfers are spoiled, with a selection of fine courses within easy reach of the city.

The Joondalup Golf & Country Club along the Indian Ocean, offers panoramic views as well as resort bungalows and other recreational facilities. The Vines Resort is one of several courses that preserve the natural habitat of the resident wildlife such as kangaroos and emus. Located in the hills of the Swan Valley, the Vines is both a championship course - home of the $ 900,000 Heineken Classic - and a luxury resort.

While Perth itself has more than enough to satisfy the average tourist, there are also a wide range of tours that can be made into the surrounding countryside. Nestled in the foothills of the Darling Ranges east of Perth are the wineries of the Swan Valley. A well-kept secret in the outside world, many fine wines are available, and such a trip will not disappoint at any time of the year. Caversham Wildlife Park, Golden Grove Citrus Orchard, White Gum Wildflower Farm, and Yanchep National Park with the famous Crystal Caves are all worthy of a visit.

A little further afield is the Nambung National Park on the coastal plain some 245 km north of Perth. The park contains beautiful beaches, coastal dune systems along with trees and flowering shrubs native to the area. Its main attraction however, is the Pinnacles. A one-way loop track leads through the desert where thousands of limestone pillars rising up to 4 metres in height, puncture the stark landscape of yellow sand. Shapes vary from jagged, pointed columns to tombstone or even human shapes, nature's work of eons before man's 4WD vehicles became regular visitors.

The mysteries and magic of nature may attract, but it's nice to return to the trappings of civilization. Shopping in Perth is a stroll, with two large malls on Hay Street and Murray Street where department stores and smaller specialist shops cater to all tastes and needs. Besides the traditional souvenirs, Aboriginal artifacts, brilliant opals and even clothing are among the bargains to be found. And don't forget to try the wide variety of fresh fruits on sale.

When it comes to accommodation and dining, Perth is no country cousin. From five-star elegance such as the Hyatt Regency or Parmelia Hilton, to limited budget hotels like the Airways City and Perth Ambassador, the city is not short of somewhere to stay - the Airways even provides a kitchenette and microwave oven in every room so that you can take advantage of Perth's high quality, low priced, fresh produce.

If holiday time means no cooking, then don't worry. Perth's many ethnic groupings provide a potpourri of international dining, not to mention the marvelous seafood restaurants that abound everywhere. For those feeling homesick, drop in at the Indonesia Indah Restaurant where besides a wide variety of authentic Indonesian cuisine, there are dance performances every night.

Perhaps the only problem with Perth is leaving. But for poor journalists, work always calls! It's not hard to see why its becoming such a popular vacation spot, a place that will call you back time and again. Just as the opal reveals different colours in different lights, so Perth, varies with its four seasons. It really is, the Opal of the West. ■ Dita Handayani

Like some ancient graveyard, the limestone columns of The Pinnacles sprout from the desert floor.

From little acorns do big oak trees grow and from self-belief and hard work are successful businesses born. Such is the story of Gulf Air.

Back in 1949 when ex-Royal Air Force officer, Frederick Bosworth, persuaded local businessmen in Bahrain to back him in forming a small air commuter service, the little seven-seater Anson Mark 1 was only used for joy-riding around the islands. Today, the Gulf Air fleet has grown to 36 state-of-the-art passenger jet aircraft serving 55 destinations on 5 continents.

Bosworth and his backers soon realised that there was a real need for an organised airline service in the Arabian Gulf area, and registered a private company called Gulf Aviation Company on 24 March 1950. Business was brisk. New services to Doha and Sharjah required more aircraft, and the charter contracts with oil companies not only brought in steady revenue but attracted the attention of British Overseas Aircraft Corporation (BOAC) - a parent of today's British Airways - that here was a thriving investment opportunity.

Coming in as a major shareholder in 1951, BOAC provided the capital boost that the Gulf Aviation Company needed to expand. By 1961 the fleet included two DC 3s, four Herons and two Doves. Maintenance requirements demanded more hanger space, and within three years the company was flying same-day services to all the Gulf states.

Inter-Gulf services continued to expand with the acquisition of two Fokker turboprop F 27s and a couple of Beechcraft ten-seaters, but it was no longer a matter of just ferrying people and equipment around. Increased emphasis on carrying passengers meant the introduction of regular cabin staff and in-flight service.

The jet age beckoned and, after the initial purchase of a BAC 1-11, in 1970 Gulf Aviation Company began flying to London with a VC-10 chartered from BOAC. However, this was just the first stirrings outside the Gulf region.

In 1973, the governments of Bahrain, Oman, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates bought out BOAC's shares in the Gulf Aviation Company and formed Gulf Air. The Treaty of Foundation signed on New Year's Day 1974 saw a dynamic expansion. The first "Golden Falcon Service" began with three VC-10s flying to London, Beirut, Cairo, Bombay and, of course, the Gulf. By the end of the year, the new company had added a fourth VC-10 and a third BAC 1-11.

Gulf Air really took off. Within two years the staff had expanded threefold; within five, the fleet had four Tristars and five Boeing 737s; then came the extensive development of personnel training and maintenance facilities.

Such attention to building up self-sufficiency in the skilled areas of airline operation saw the company become a fully-fledged member of the International Air Transport Association (IATA) in 1981. By 1984, they were undertaking major overhaul of their own aircraft.

Success reaps rewards, and in 1982 and 1983 Gulf Air was named the 'Best Airline to the Middle East'. By 1985 it had indeed become multi-national - 4,500 personnel comprising 42 nationalities and speaking 23 different languages.

Since then, things have flown thick and fast: the Gulf Aircraft Maintenance Company (GAMCO) opened in Abu Dhabi in 1987; the Boeing 767s (now 18 aircraft) made their debut in 1988; and in 1990, to celebrate the airline's 40th birthday, new, Balenciga-designed uniforms were introduced, along with new routes to Singapore and Sydney, Australia.

Sitting on past laurels is not Gulf Air's way however, and in 1992 the airline not only opened its new headquarters in Bahrain but also took delivery of its first Airbus A-320 aircraft. The following year saw flight-simulator facilities opened in Doha and Qatar. By then, with the addition of African destinations, the airline was flying to 51 cities worldwide.

The ongoing expansion saw the addition of a Boeing 757 freighter in 1994 together with the first three of six Airbus A 340-300 aircraft for long-haul flights. New direct and non-stop services were introduced from the Gulf to New York City and Durban in South Africa - a country that is not as yet linked directly from Indonesia, despite its vast potential.

While some members of the aviation industry are suffering from setbacks in traffic growth despite increasing their capacity, Gulf Air's performance shows a healthy trend. Already in 1995, the company has transported some 2.5 million passengers through the first half of the year, a rise of 4 percent on last year's figures. With the inauguration of three new destinations at the end of October - Kuala Lumpur ex Jakarta, Geneva and Houston - Gulf Air anticipates meeting its target of lifting 5 million passengers throughout the whole year, which would represent 10 percent growth on 1994 figures.

Cargo operations too, have shown a rapid growth - 20 percent annually over the past five years. In recognising this as its fastest growing sector, Gulf Air has embarked on new strategic moves to build on this growth. As part of its airline-wide commitment to implementing modern high quality technology and efficiency, Gulf Air is to introduce an Open Fast system to the cargo industry starting from the Gulf and moving to the Asian and Pacific regions. This will offer the industry access from their own in-house systems, giving fast and easy access to the relevant data, thus speeding up the flow of goods and bringing major improvements in customer service.

Business plays an important role in any airline's profitability, but it is tourism that takes the lion's share of the travel industry. In the past, most outsiders have known little about the Arabian Gulf countries either as a business environment or a tourist destination. To some degree this is probably due to a lack of self-promotion, especially in the potential Asian market.

Now, following the problems caused by fluctuating oil prices, the Gulf region countries are re-evaluating their strategies in order to tap in on particular the tourist market. The image to be portrayed is that the Gulf region is in fact a veritable oasis with much variety to offer; heritage, golf courses, unique culture, great hospitality, shopping and business opportunities, the Gulf offers them all. While world tourism figures are expected to grow by 5.5 percent annually over the next few years, the Gulf region and the Middle East generally are looking at perhaps 7 percent annually.

Obviously this must involve a joint effort on behalf of all sectors of the tourism industry as well as at government level. With its commitment to the latest aviation technology - Gulf Air's fleet is only 2.6 years old on average - and adherence to the traditions of Arabic hospitality, Gulf Air is well equipped to play a major role in this drive.

Recognition that customers are its friends drives the airline to maximum endeavour, ensuring that only the best is good enough. Gulf Air was the first Arab airline to introduce a frequent flyer programme incrementing Gulf Air regular travellers, especially those in first and business class. Based on an award point system, passengers can apply points to flight upgrades, hotel accommodation, chauffeur drive or car hire.

Quality, innovation and tradition are bywords of in-flight service on Gulf Air, and not only does it possess such sophisticated aircraft to enable it to compete in quality with the major international carriers, but it has just made a major investment to upgrade its onboard entertainment so as to offer the latest communication technology from faxes, sky phones to built-in video screens.

Already, in keeping with the airline's policy of promoting business and tourism into Gulf Air's owner states (Bahrain, Oman, Qatar and the UAE), they have on offer the Visit the Gulf Pass. This discounts the airline's inter-Gulf state transport and even a visa for free!

Steady investment has seen Gulf Air evolve into a truly international world-class airline. As the company's improvements have turned to reality, it is now time to bring the airline's corporate identity up-to-date - A World of Difference is the theme for the presentation of the company towards the next generation. A solid dark-blue is overlaid with a sky-filled globe, demonstrating global travel-strong images that reflect the confidence of its passengers.

Inflight services have always been a strong reason to fly Gulf Air.

From its humble beginnings, Gulf Air has come a long, long way. However, be it five or 55 destinations, seven-seater planes or the latest jet airliners, its commitment to provide passengers with only the best remains intractable. An experienced airline that approaches the next century with deserved confidence, flying Gulf Air really does offer A World of Difference.... ■ Rich Peters

SPECIAL INTEREST MARKETS

JALAN SURABAYA Menteng

Located in an up-market residential area, Jl. Surabaya is famous for its flea market.

Be prepared to haggle, and don't be too taken in by what you see, for some of the 'antiques' are literally 'hot off the press'.

You can on occasions however, come across a good buy at just the right price.

And if you're wondering how to carry it home with you, one section of the street specialises in inexpensive luggage and shoulder bags.

JALAN KEBON SIRIH TIMUR DALAM Menteng

For those who are more serious in their search for antiques and objets d'art this is the street to wander.

A succession of shops offers a wide selection, and even if you're not in the buying mood it's fun to just browse.

JALAN PRAMUKA Jakarta Timur

This is the place where bird lovers congregate to both watch and buy all kind of tropical birds.

Open daily from 09.00 hours it is a fascinating cacophony of sound, but if you're in the market for one of our feathered friends it is best to bring an Indonesian-speaker along to act as guide and go-between.

PASAR SENI

Jaya Ancol Fantasy Park
By far the most laid-back art market in Jakarta, this is much more than a place to shop for paintings and other Indonesian handicrafts. For here is a collection of workshops for the artisans to produce their work until such time that they have become sufficiently established to afford their own premises.
